

The beauty around me

When I am in my backyard , I see people fertilising plants and planting seeds. When I go to my cherry tree , I see bees pollinating his flower and bird eating some cherry and some brown squirrel climbing the fences to find some nuts.

When I am in my car I see people driving car and riding bicycle and some just running. The people around me are happy and fully living them lives. When I am here in my home , I see youtubers trying to make a good video and website trying to attract clients.

When I look up , I see birds flying and plane turning and clouds moving. Sometimes snow or water raining down from the clouds above us and in rare cases some lightning and thunder. In the night sky , I glare into the to moon and the stars with my telescope and at dawn I see Venus slowly disappearing into the darkness

They all have one thing in common its that they all light up our day and help your lifeless world become colorful beautiful world of peace and wonders. Even a stormy night could become the best night you ever had.
